Mr. W. M. Dubard Attends Reunion at Gettysburg, Va.

Mr. Adolphus Clark and Mr. W. P. Blakely Also Attended The Reunion

Editor of The Sentinel:

At your request I give you a few lines about our trip to Gettysburg.

Mr. Adolphus Clark and daughter, Miss Annabell, Mr. W. P. Blakely and young Mr. Fite, I and my daughter, Mrs. C. L. Lomax, made the list of attendants from this country.

It was a great trip that none of us can ever forget. Beginning with our own railroad officials, Mr. Sherwood and Mr. Bull, nothing but kindness and courtesy met us everywhere.

I had never before been east of Paducah, Kentucky, and if we had seen nothing but the scenery along the way through Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia and Maryland, to say nothing of that between Gettysburg and Washington, it would form an unforgetten memory.

The meeting at Gettysburg was a marvelous thing. Nothing like it has or will ever occur again. Most of our great National meetings, and many of those of less magnitude are marked by contending ambitions and interests, but this had nothing of that in it. Only expressions of gladness and good will were heard.

I will not undertake to tell of the great things we saw and heard, the great crowds, the government displays, the President's appearance and speech, the two eventful parallel death ridges of four miles length, about a mile apart. These have all been told in the public prints of the day.

The thing which impressed me most was the fine spirit of the people of the various sections of the country on their first REAL meeting. I think those who were there have found that we are all much alike when we know each other, the difference being our environment and lack of knowledge of each other.

Much of good should result from this great meeting. Seeing it emphasized the fact that this is our common country and that to secure what is right and fair for ourselves is to give that which is right and far to others.

I add this to the foregoing scribble. It added much to the pleasure of our trip to find on the train and to be almost constantly associated with while at Gettysburg and on our return, that splendid man, Mr. J. B. Streater and his daughter of Blackhawk. Those who know them will realize what a treat that was.

H. A. WALLACE,

W. P. A. Offers School Work At U. Of Oklahoma

There Is No Tuition Charged The Student, Cooperating Teachers or Schools

Many people have had the disappointing experience of becoming interested in some activity only to find that they are hampered or barred because they did not finish high school or made the mistake of studying the wrong thing. This happens too frequently, often because schools can not afford to offer work in which only a few, or perhaps only a single individual are interested. Schools have to choose a middle course and not always a happy one. Small communities find it difficult to meet requirements for college entrance and at the same time serve the immediate needs of the larger group who have other interests.

To serve these needs, the Federal government, in cooperation with the University of Oklahoma, devised a plan which has been successfully carried on for the past two years. Under this plan anyone who is mature enough to do high school work can secure training to fit individual interests. Because of grants from the Works Progress Administration there is no tuition charged the student cooperating teachers or schools. The studept need only arrange for books, which can often be obtained in the home community. A wide choice of subjects is offered. If an approved plan is followed a high school or special certificate may be earned.

Adequate education is necessary to preserve a democratic nation. Free education, freedom of choice, availibility of opportunity and recognition of accomplishment are marks of democracy.

Through these courses thousands of students are preparing themselves for some occupation or position. Some are studying for government positions, diesel engineering, shorthand, or bookkeeping. Some want to raise livestock or poultry, some to make a small farm pay, or to plant an orchard. Some are interested in preparing better balanced meals, in designing dresses or hats, in harmonizing colors. Some are interested in art, music, literature, or recreation. Some are not able to attend school regularly on account of physical condition or distance. Some are going to two or three year high schools through our supervised correspondence courses will be able to graduate without going away to school.

All these courses are carefully graded within the range of high school ability. They are accredited by the University of Oklahoma which accepts completed work in satisfaction of entrance requirements. The courses meet approved standards and the teachers grading papers have standard degrees.

Many high schools now have supervised correspondence courses offered as a regular part of their curriculum. In this way they can offer elective courses to meet the recommendations of their guidance counsellors. With the recommendation of the local high school principal or educational adviser, students taking supervised correspondence courses are going on with an individual educational program.

The Works Progress Administration and the University of Oklahoma have extended the campus to every door. They have correspondence students in every state, in Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Alaska, and the Canal Zone enjoying profitable courses prepared in an interesting, modern way by competent instructors. It is a democratic, inexpensive means of continuing intellectual growth, and preparing directly for a chosen field.

Individual students or high school teachers are cordially invited to write about their educational problems to Correspondence Studies, WPA, W. E. Jadwin, Supervisor, 621 North Robinson, Room No. 10, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Dr. J. S. Sharp left Thursday morning for Lynchburg, Va., to visit in the home of Judge and Mrs. B. B. Campbell, where Mrs. Sharp and daughter, Miss Lucy Webb, have been guests for the past two weeks.

Finance Chairman Predicts Five Million Deficit In 1940

Only Hope Is To Increase The Sales Tax To Three Cents

Senator W. B. Roberts, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee stated today:

"The following estimates of the unappropriated balance in the State Treasury at the end of the present biennium, July 1, 1940, reinforced by a two-mill ad valorem tax revenue of eighteen months, and a one cent increase in sales tax, I accept as being correct as near as it can be arrived at in making an estimate of the future:

|---|---|
| Cash available | $1,500,000 |
| Additional 2 mill ad valorem for eighteen months | 1,550,000 |
| Additional one cent on Cigarettes | 1,000,000 |
| A total of | $4,050,000 |

I also accept as correct the general accepted figure that the loss in revenue for the first fiscal year of the operation of the law will be $3,380,724. From these estimates it is apparent that we would consume the entire amount of the two years' available funds to pay the first year's tax loss except $669,276 left as a working balance necessary for the proper operation of the state's business. This would not leave a single dollar above the working balance mentioned for the payment to the county, district and town tax loss in the second year of the operation o fthe exemption. None of us can know what the second year's tax loss would be, but common sense should teach us that there would be a large increase in the number of exempted homes because of tenant houses being sold to tenants and others, and increased in the amount of assessments of homes. I believe that the second year the tax loss would be raised from $3,380,724 to at least $5,000,000, thus confronting the next Legislature with a deficit of at least $5,000,000 less the working balance of $669,276. I know of no way that this deficit can be avoided except by an immediate increase in the sales tax to three cents or raising other taxes or by borrowing the money, thus passing this year's taxes on homes to other people to be paid by them in the years of the future."

Private Employers Hired 46 Persons In Month of June

In Addition, 58 Persons Were Placed On Public Jobs

A total of 2547 calls were made at the Grenada office and its itinerant points during June. Besides Grenada county, the Grenada MSES office also serves Carroll, Calhoun, and Montgomery counties, sending itinerant interviewers to Carrollton, Pittsboro, and Winona every week.

There are now on file in the Grenada office 1537 applications of persons actively seeking employment, including 1341 men and 196 women. During June, 380 new applications and 195 renewals of expired applications were taken.

Outlook Bright For Controlling Tuberculosis Within Next Generation

The outlook for controlling tuberculosis within the next generation is bright in the opinion of Dr. Felix J. Underwood, State Health Officer, following a long-range survey of this dreaded disease.

Stating that deaths from tuberculosis decreased from 2798 in 1918 to 1300 in 1937, Doctor Underwood averred that this same rate of decline for the next twenty years will bring the mortality rate from this disease practically within the borders of control.

"Tuberculosis death rate in Mississippi in 1918 was 156 per hundred thousand population, a very high rate," Doctor Underwood declared. "In 1927 the rate had declined to 91, and last year was down to 60. If the decline continues in the same proportion for the next twenty years, there is every reason to believe that the death rate from this disease in 1957 will be only 23 per hundred thousand. A death rate of 10 is looked on as the lowest figure which can be obtained with present known measures of control," Doctor Underwood continued.

"Of direct significance in the reduction of tuberculosis deaths in the past two decades is the fact that these are the exact years the Sanatorium has been in operation and the years in which the State Board of Health has developed from a part-time department chiefly concerned with medical dicensure to a far-flung organization designed to prevent death, prolong life, and promote the health of all the people of the state.

"The progress of the past twenty years is a challenge for the future," Doctor Underwood continued, "and there can be no let-up in the fight. Efforts in every line—prevention, control, and cure—must now be intensified to obtain results comparable to those of the past two decades. The nearer the goal, the harder the work necessary to attain it. Graphs depicting declining death rates show at first a rapid swerve downward on the application of reasonable control measures. Toward the end of the picture, however, the declining line tends to straighten out indicating the ever-increasing work necessary to make new gains as well as hold the ground already won.

"It is in this latter period of tuberculosis control that Mississippi has now entered," the health officer explained. "But what has been done points the way to what must be done. Through unremitting labor on the part of physicians, health workers, civic and community orgaizations and individual citizens, it is hoped and expected that the ancient enemy, tuberculosis, will be routed within the next generation."

"Behind The Scenes In American Business"

(By John Craddock)

New York July 11—BUSINESS—Things are now looking up all over the nation. Farmers in the wheat country are preparing to sell a record-breaking crop at better prices than they expected. Reports from industrial centers indicate that workers who lost their jobs anywhere from three to nine months ago are being reemployed. In the last 30 days 1,500 skilled radio workers have gone back to work in Camden, N. J., and 15,000 clothing workers have returned to their jobs in Rochester, N. Y. In a steel manufacturing town in Pennsylvania idle workers have been requested to come back and register for jobs, the usual prelude to resumption of operations. The improved business sentiment, following three weeks of rising stock and commodity prices, has given confidence to buyers for retail establishments who are now in the New York market selections of fall clothing, house furnishings and other merchandise which will soon be on the nation's retail centers.

WASHINGTON — A flood of optimism poured out of the nation's capital last week. Government economists predicted an early business recovery. Secretary of Interior Ickes declared that a billion dollars worth of building materials, including iron and steel, glass, cement, lumber and plumbing equipment would be purchased in carrying out the government's new Public Works program. Federal Housing Administrator Stewart McDonald reported to the president that the FHA this year would insure mortgages on $1,000,000,000 of new homes, a new all-time record for construction financed by insured mortgages. Secretary of Commerce Roper before sailing to Scotland on vacation said the process of slow economic improvement has been going on steadily for several weeks.

YOU CAN'T WIN—The observation made after the World War that neither side can win a modern war is being demonstrated again in the Orient. Both Japan, the aggressor, and China, the attacked, are much worse off today than before the outbreak of hostilities just a year ago. And all other nations are suffering too. Losses to American business and labor to date, because of the Sino-Japanese conflict, are placed at $200,000,000 by O. O. Gallup of the Export Managers Club. That's at the rate of $25,000 an hour. Mr. Gallup's estimate is based on reports from the Far East listing damages to American property including hospitals, missionary buildings, cultural institutions and private homes as well as industrial buildings in China. Japan has practically ceased purchasing materials from other nations except for wartime purposes because she has had to tighten her belt to finance an undeclared war which is costing $5,000,000 a day, he said.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR—Germicidal, non-slip tiling for the floors of swimming pools, showers, and locker rooms; germs causing "athlete's foot" cannot survive in contact with the tiles . . . New pencil lead, thinner yet stronger than the old . . . A material made of cane fiber and asphalt, to convert flat roofs into playgrounds and recreational areas . . . Electric cord for washing machines, irons and other appliances, which takes up slack like a self-reeling tape-measure . . . A small electric shaving light which clamps to the side of an electric shaver.

CORNER GROCER AND SELF-SERVICE MARKETS—All retailers—and independent grocers particularly—have been studying closely the development of self-service stores. Corner grocers not in communities where self-service stores have been opened, and two have had no direct experience as to the effect of such markets on their business, are finding the answer in a recent survey made by the Progressive Grocer, trade magazine of the grocery business. This study, conducted in northern New Jersey and Cincinnati, disclosed that both number and sales volume of medium-sized independent stores actually have increased along with self-service market activity. In New Jersey, it was found that stores with from 3 to 15 employees enjoyed about $9,000,000,000 more volume in 1937 than in 1936, while self-service markets with 16 or more employees increased their sales volume slightly less than $3,000,000.

PLAY'S THE THING—Recreation is fast becoming a major source of employment in America. A recent tabulation shows that some 1,280 cities and towns in the U. S. now have 17,745 play areas employing 40,418 full and part time recreation leaders. In addition there are about 10,878 volunteer leaders. Total expenditures for public recreation in those cities and towns last year was placed at $47,933,781.

HEADLINES—U. S. farm population 90,000 greater than a year ago, according to the Department of Agriculture . . . 180 patent applications a day were filed by U. S. inventors with the Patent Office last year . . . Population of the U. S., now estimated at 130,000,000, will reach a peak of 158,335,000 in 1980 and then gradually begin to decline, according to Natural Resources Board . . . B. F. Goodrich trophy to be presented this week to the lodge which had the most outstanding record in the Elks traffic safety program during the last 12 months; more than 1,400 lodges participated . . . Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey sells $81,000,000 in new bonds for expansion purposes . . . Post office receipts in year ended June 30, were $726,000,000, highest in history, and equal to $5.60 for each man, woman and child in the country.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY COTTON INSECT REPORT

State College, Miss., July 11—The most important development in the cotton insect situation the past week, according to the State Plant Board, was the finding of the cotton leafworm in Madison Parish, La., by the Bureau of Entomology on July 6, a full month earlier than it appeared last year. Clay Lile, Entomologist of the Board, stated that it might be found in Mississippi any day now, as Madison Parish lies just across the river from Vicksburg.

The boll weevil infestation remained about the same, Plant Board inspectors examining 99 farms in 31 counties, of which 93 were infested. The average percentage of punctured squares was 12, as compared with 13 percent last week and 7 per cent a year ago. The few fields without weevils were in the extreme northern part of the state.

The extremely hot weather of the past week caused heavy mortality among immature stages of the weevil where cotton did not completely shade the ground, according to Dr. Lyle. An examination of a large number of dry squares at State College on July 8 showed that 80 percent of the weevils in them were dead.

ATTENDANCE RECORD SET AT 4-H CLUB CONGRESS

State College, Miss., July 11—A new attendance record was set at the State 4-H Club Congress here today when over 1,100 girls and boys were registered by the mid-afternoon with delegates from 20 counties still to be assigned, E. H. White, director of extension, announced.

The capacity of the Extension Service for organization and administration was demonstrated when the boys and girls were registered, assigned rooms, given meal tickets and organized into companies ready for classroom, field, demonstration and laboratory work within six hours.

Thorough organization and strict discipline, club officials said, are required for the orderly and prompt movement of the club members to their varied assignments.

After arrival, the members took shower baths, had supper in the college cafeteria and then enjoyed a feature motion picture in the college auditorium.

Director White, Miss Mary Cresswell, state home demonstration agent; Miss Elaine Massey, and J. E. Tanner, state club agents, are in general charge. The county home demonstration agents and the assistant county agents will have direct supervision of the boys and girls, while extension specialists, experiment station workers and college professors, will serve as instructors and direct the contests.

The 4-H club motto, "To make the best better", will be the general theme for the week. All contestants and instructional work will get under way at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning.

SAYS LINDBERGH NEVER EVEN THANKED HER

New York, N. Y. July 14—Revealing for the first time that Lindbergh approved of her negotiations to bring about the return of his kidnaped child, Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean today declares the noted flier never even as much as thanked her for her efforts.

Telling of her activities in the case, in the current Liberty Magazine, the Washington society woman reveals she had to pawn the famous Hope Diamond several times to get funds with which she carried on her investigation and which ultimately cost her $100,000, paid to Gaston Means in a futile attempt to recover the child.

"Lindbergh knew what was going on all the time," Mrs. McLean reveals. "Before I gave Gaston Means as much as a five-cent piece, the father of the missing baby was told in detail what the notorious Means' seemingly reasonable plans were, and who and what Means was; and he sent word through a relative for me to go right ahead. Today I do not possess so much as a note of thanks from Colonel Lindbergh for my pains."

Mrs. McLean states she still hopes to bring about a complete solution of the crime.

4-H GIRLS INTERESTED IN DOING OLD-FASHIONED THINGS IN THEIR HOMES

State College, Miss., July 11—Proof that Mississippi 4-H Club girls are interested in doing the good old-fashioned things at home to help the family living is found in the fact that 35 counties concluded community and county contests in canning this year and each of these counties is represented at the State Club Congress by the county winner who will compete in the state contests here Tuesday.

Cotton Report As Of July 1, 1938

Gulfport, Miss., July 11—The acreage of cotton in cultivation in the United States on July 1 is estimated by the Crop Reporting Board to be 26,904,000 acres which is 22 percent less than the 34,471,000 acres on July 1, 1937; 28 percent less than the 1927-36 average; and 16.8 percent less than the 1933-37 average. Applying the 10-year (1928-37) average abandonment to this year's planted acreage would indicate the smallest acreage for harvest since 1900. The next lowest acreage was in 1934 when 27,860,000 acres were planted. Among the causes for the sharp reduction in 1938 are the Agricultural Adjustment program, relatively low cotton prices received for last year's crop, and difficulties in securing stands because of unfavorable weather.

Decreases are shown in all States with the greatest reduction occurring west of the Mississippi River. In this group California shows the heaviest decrease with acreage estimated at 57 percent of 1937, Missouri follows with 70 percent, Arizona and New Mexico 71 percent, Oklahoma 77 percent, Texas 78 percent, Louisiana and Arkansas 79 and 80 percent, respectively.

East of the Mississippi River where the decreases are not so marked, the 1938 acreage in Tennessee and North Carolina is estimated at 82 percent of the acreage in 1937, followed by Alabama with 81 percent, Georgia with 79 percent, Mississippi 78 percent, South Carolina 77 percent, and Florida and Virginia with 75 and 65 percent, respectively.

Sea Island and American-Egyptian cotton, which are not affected by the Agricultural Adjustment program, shows large increases in 1938 over 1937. The acreage of Sea Island cotton is estimated at 27,000 acres in 1938 compared with 19,900 in 1937, and the American-Egyptian acreage is placed at 41,000 acres in 1938 compared with 21,000 acres last year.

The acreage of cotton in cultivation in Mississippi on July 1, 1938, is estimated at 2,726,000 acres, a decrease of 22 percent from the 3,495,000 acres in cultivation on July 1, of last year. The estimated acreage this year is only 76.6 percent of the 10-year (1927-36) average of 3,550,000 acres in cultivation on July 1. The 10-year average (1928-37) average abandonment is 1.0 percent of the planted acreage.

No report on probable production of lint will be made until August 8.

Number 1 of Volume 1 of "The Chancery Clerk", a four page Monthly Bulletin, published and edited by Bill Dennis, of Meridian, Miss., has been received by the secretary of state. It is a newsy little paper devoted to the interests of the Chancery Clerks of the eighty-two counties in the State. In the current issue is a list of the various legislative acts of the 1938 regular session of the legislature of special interest to the Chancery Clerks, compiled by Attorney General Greek L. Rice. I wish "The Chancery Clerk" abundant success in its chosen field of service, will look forward to future editions with interest.

News comes from Washington that the Army Air Corps is experimenting with cotton cloth in construction of airport runways. With experimentation already going on over at Scott, Miss., and other places, in the use of cotton as a street and road building material, and for use for drying out concrete roads faster than the dirt method, it may be that in a few years more King Cotton will come back into its own. The Government test is being made at Reilly Field, Alabama. Cotton construction, government engineers state, cost from 90c to $1.00 a quare yard, compared with obout $2.25 for concrete. This means quite a saving in construction. To further the "Use More Cotton" movement all state departments, and commissions, of Mississippi, send out in each letter this printed message: "Prosperity of the country as a whole—and especially of this section—depends in a large measure on a greater use of cotton. Business, political and farm leaders of the country recognize this fact and have cooperated with the leading citizens of this section in an effort to encourage more use of cotton and its products. The State of Mississippi is in sympathy with this program and wherever possible will use cotton and products of cotton and it may be that you are in a position to use more cotton products. If you can it will be your contribution to the return of prosperity." This message bears the picture of a cotton field with negroes picking cotton, and is signed officially by Governor Hugh L. White and Secretary of State Walker Wood. This reminder to use more cotton is given a wide circulation by this method of distribution.

Seldom indeed is one man privileged to edit and publish a single newspaper for a half century. But this honor now belongs to Hon. He is now being showered with congratulations and I, with all the members of my staff, joins with his host of friends throughout Mississippi, in extending our heartiest good wishes for fifty more years of service to the citizens of Lawrence County. His son, Joe Dale, Jr., is the popular representative of the Associated Press at the New Capitol.

July 22 has been set as the date for the dedicating of a memorial library at Ruleville, Miss., in memory of Hon. Horace Stancel, former speaker of the House of Representatives of the State Legislature. Governor Hugh White, Lieutenant Governor J. B. Snider, and other state dignataries will take part in the dedication ceremonies.

The Mississippi State Employment service appears to be functioning nicely, as during the month of June jobs were found for 1606 of Mississippians listed among the unemployed. These were all placed in trade, industry, construction and private employ. In addition during the same month, the Employment Service placed 4,147 people in public employment, making a total of 5,753 previously unemployed now in some kind of gainful occupation. The Mississippi Employment Service has steadily climbed in the nation's rating, and June's employment is expected to raise it still higher among the forty-eight states.

Attorney-General Greek L. Rice states that every day he is receiving complaints and requests from former owners who have lost their lands through tax sales, and now want the state to sue and get them back for them. The attorney-general warns that court procedure should be invoked only where it is clear that actual fraud has been practiced, because such cases require strict proof to sustain them. "The lands that have been bought from the state is in such a muddle" says the attorney general "there is practically, or in effect, a cloud on the title of every person who has bought land through the State Land Office during the last four or five years." "This is due," says General Rice, "in a large part, to the confusion incident to the lost and misplaced records in that office and to the legislative and court investigations that have taken place with reference to practices there, and to the numerous lawsuits filed on these patents."

General Rice further says: "Something should be done with respect to stabilizing forfeited land tax titles in cases where no fraud has been practiced. Under the circumstances, the titles have little commercial value. I am told that it is almost impossible for any one to borrow money on land that has been purchased from the state within the last few years. The banks are not loaning money on such titles and the public generally is quite shy of buying it. Those people who bought in good faith and who practiced no actual fraud on the state should be given some protection, and it is within the authority of the Legislature to create and empower an agency that can expeditiously take care of the great majority of these people."

J .S. School children attending summer schools get credit for the work done, but no child is allowed more than four units during the entire high school course.

Mississippi at last is the owner of "iron lungs". The possession of this scientific instrument was made possible through the efforts of many Mississippians, and has been installed at the Polio Clinic for use in the treatment of the victims of infantile paralysis. It was through the efforts largely of Mrs. H. J. Wilson, of Hazlehurst, president of the Mississippi State Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. J. F. McDougial, Supervisor of Crippled Children's Service, and Mrs. J. G. Fox, president of Jackson Research Club, that the ownership of the instrument was made possible. With the aid of this scientific instrument the appalling number of infants and youngsters dying from infantile paralysis will be greatly reduced.

News reached the Capitol on Monday that Senator Joe Cook, a veteran of the Mississippi Senate, is ill in the hospital at Columbus, and would not be able to reach Jackson for the opening of the extraordinary session on July 6th. The many friends of Senator Cook over the state, will regret to learn of his illness, but will be glad to know that he is getting along as nicely as could be expected, and that he expects to be able to get to the extraordinary session a few days after it convenes.

Dr. Felix Underwood, Director State Department of Health, in a Bulletein recently issued entitled "Health Syllabus" has the following resolutions for the head of every family that are worthy of deepest consideration: They are: (1) Resolved from now on I am going to pay more attention to my own and my family's health—not in any silly fashion that makes cranks and faddists of folks, but with sense and intelligence. (2) That I shall make use of the well-known methods of active immunization and have the children protected against typhoid fever, diphtheria, and small-pox. (3) That we must all have an annual health examination. If automobiles need overhauling once in a while, it stands to reason this is a good idea for people too. (4)That our teeth must be looked over—and that right soon. I can't afford a lot of big dentist's bills, nor the damages that arise fro minfected teeth, and I want to have pretty teeth. (5) That we are going to be more regular about our exercise and sleep—especially sleep, for the children.

The Extraordinary Session of the 1938 Mississippi Legislature convened at high noon on Wednesday, July 6th, with Fielding Wright, Speaker of the House of Representatives, presiding over the lower body, and Lieutenant-Governor J. B. Snider, presiding over the Senate. Governor Hugh White delivered his address before a joint body, and presented the Homestead Exemption for the consideration of the legislature. Other matters may be presented later, but the Exemption was the only one presented by the Governor in his address.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By Ray Walter JOHNSON and PIERCE

Washington, D. C., July 14—The United States expects its greatest wheat crop in years, which probably means that wheat prices will drop and without government assistance the farmers will make little if any money, although they expect to produce a million bushels.

Europe on the other hand is suffering from a disastrous drought and the wheat crop is threatening famine. Paradoxically, it doesn't mean death over there, it means life. Money intended for guns and powder is already being used for wheat. War, for this year at least, is impracticable. It is one of the monies of life that the peace of Europe should depend on a scarcity of wheat there. And the blessing of peace may also benefit the American farmer. It may mean unprecedented export of this wheat to Italy, Germany and other central European dictator countries, and a slowing up of world armament. A "break" for our farmers and the people of Europe.

Some loyal New Deal Democrats are filled with apprehension over the President's speaking trip across the country. They are dubious of the practicability of a purge, such as they fear Mr. Roosevelt is undertaking. And for good and obvious reasons.

One hundred percent allegiance is practically impossible and not to be expected in the practical operations of politics. Not often is an important vote taken in which all the regulars can stay out. The interest of a member's district or state may be in conflict with the pending proposition. To vote in the affirmative would spell political suicide. The house or senate leader however, yields gracefully, knowing that he can't win that member's vote, and rather than hold a grudge, looks the other way.

This atmosphere of give and take allows considerable latitude in both Houses of Congress, but the degree of party solidarity demanded by Mr. Roosevelt in legislative measures simply has certain members wondering when the "purge" will plague next.

But the fact remains that a president unless he is content to be a cipher, which not even Coolidge or Taft has been, must fight for his program. Woodrow Wilson pleaded with the people for a democratic congress and lost. Harding once went to the senate with a personal plea for Merchant Marine legislation and lost. Franklin D. Roosevelt knows predecessors have lost such fights in the past but he feels the risk must be taken and is taking it.

A prominent Washington lawyer is being pointed out in local society salons as the recipient of a substantial retainer fee from the former American dollar princess Barbara Hutton. Gossipers expect the Countess to return to America immediately after a divorce is granted her from Count Haugwitz-Reventlow.

Washington, one hears, may be her future home, but the Countess may abandon her social career. Her marital freedom, custody of her son and the return of American citizenship are her only 'plans' for the future. A'men,' say we, but to our way of thinking Barbara is only started in the popular game of making the headlines.

For Better Times—

The public demand today is for business activity.

Some people think the railroads ought to stimulate business by spending more money—running more trains, hiring more help, buying more supplies.

Others realize that can't be done unless the railroads first obtain more customers and more cash.

That in turn hinges partly upon general business activity and partly upon competition, the latter provided by carriers which the government taxes us all, even the railroads, to support.

There's a perfect log jam, locked in place by the protruding key log of unequal competition. To remove that log will no doubt break that jam.

For better business we need justice in transportation. In terms of action, first give the railroads equality of opportunity, then ship and travel as your choice dictates.

Announcement Tea

Saturday afternoon, July 9, the spacious outdoor living room of Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Sharp, with its flowering grandeur, was the scene of a beautiful announcement tea, when Mrs. Donald Sharp entertained in honor of Miss Mary Ida Sharp, bride-elect of Mr. Eldridge Parks, the wedding to take place in August.

On arrival, the guests were greeted by Mrs. Donald Sharp, Miss Mary Ida Sharp ,and Miss Mary Emma Howze, Miss Sharp's cousin. Little Miss Donna Jean Sharp, daughter of the hostess, invited the guests to get their mail and conducted them to a table attractive in pink and white on which there had been placed a mail box in white, with pink streamers. The guests found at the end of each streamer the announcement of the happy event.

Miss Sharp was lovely in white lace, her flowers a corsage of orchids. She was presented six teaspoons in her chosen pattern of silver, by her hostess. Mrs. Sharp was assisted by Mrs. Robert Sharp, Mrs. Ben Brown, Mrs. Fred Lickfold, Jr., and Mrs. Robert Townes in serving delicious sandwiches, sherbet and individual bride's cakes to the following:

... But Not too Big to be Friendly

"MAKE to our order NINE MILLION telephone calls! Make them clear, fast and accurate!"

That's the big order we get every day from the South's telephone users.

To handle this great volume of calls is a tremendous job. It requires the services of over 7,000 men and 12,000 women ... and an investment of more than 232 dollars worth of plant and equipment for every telephone.

This organization must be big to provide the fast, accurate, high-quality telephone service that the South demands. But we are not too big to be friendly neighbors. Not too big nor too busy to greet you with a smile ... to serve you with courtesy and consideration ... to help you locate a doctor in a hurry ... or to lend a helping hand whenever you need some special telephone service. To us, telephone users are people—not just telephone numbers.

Use your telephone more — to keep in touch with family and friends ... to speed your business affairs ... to get things done quickly and easily, anywhere.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF GRENADA COUNTY AND CITY OF GRENADA

THE MISSISSIPPI POWER & LIGHT CO., AND GRENADA.

In April 1934 the Mississippi Power & Light Company submitted a proposal to the mayor and board of aldermen to change section seven of their contract with the city of Grenada. This proposal was given to The Sentinel for publication by Mayor Proby and appeared in issue of April 27.

The present editor of The Sentinel had no official connection with The Sentinel at the time, consequently The Sentinel's editorial columns were not open to him, however, when on the morning of April 28 he read the power company's proposal he had 2,000 handbills printed protesting the proposed change in the contract. These handbills were distributed at his own expense.

The present editor then prepared an article "Mississippi Power & Light Company's Proposal Analyzed" which was published in The Sentinel on May 4, and from which we quote:

"One should not blame the Mississippi Power & Light Company for submitting its proposition to the citizens of Grenada in last week's issue of The Sentinel. It is a business proposition with them—merely a matter of horse trading.

"What the Mississippi Power & Light Company proposes is that the citizens of Grenada allow section seven to be stricken from the contract which they entered into when they purchased the Municipal Electric plant and distribution system in 1925. Section seven is a part of the purchase price of the electric plant. It is not merely an inserted clause. Grenada would have required a great deal more money for its plant had it not been for section seven.

"* * * Under the proposed changes we (consumers) get a lump sum of money but no guarantee as to what the Mississippi Power & Light Company will do to us in the future. They, of course, agree to give us the same rate as found in other towns, of similar size, that THEY serve. As it now stands we get the benefit of the lowest rate in the state regardless of size or class of town. But their slogan in all their towns might turn out to be ONE PRICE TO ALL—THE HIGHEST."

The Sentinel made no editorial comment regarding this controversy and the present editor feels that it was largely through his efforts that this proposed change in the contract fell through, and believes power company officials are of the same opinion.

Some of our friends have asked us why we did not publish the resolution passed by the board of aldermen at their last regular meeting relative to forcing the power company to comply with section seven of their contract. The best reason we can give is that we knew nothing whatsoever about it until some of our friends asked us why we did not publish it. Neither Mr. LaGrone, local manager of the power company, nor anyone else, mentioned the matter to us and asked that we not publish it until the power company had submitted their proposition. Anyone making a statement to the contrary is just a plain ————?

As long as the present editor has control of The Sentinel, Grenada will come first, Grenada will not be "sold down stream", however an electric rate is not so simple to construct as the average layman might think. Change any electric rate to the advantage of the consumers as a whole and others will be placed at a disadvantage, their bills will be increased, that is if the power company expects to continue to operate. For instance, we give you below the names of some consumers and the amount of increase in their electric bills for a twelve-months period should the Mississippi Power Company's (the company operating in the eastern part of the state) rate schedule be put into effect in Grenada:

Commercial Lighting

| Consumer | Amount of Increase |
|---|---|
| Novelty Shop | $ 1.71 |
| Lickfold's Jewelry | 3.74 |
| James Cuff & Co. | 4.08 |
| Frank Jones, Jr. | 10.54 |
| Grenada Theatre | 90.26 |
| Gilliam Motor Co. | 21.36 |
| 444 Tire & Battery Co. | 55.50 |
| Grenada Hotel | 129.90 |
| Rose Cafe | 26.50 |
| Dr. Cecil Smith | .18 |
| Weir's Barber Shop | 1.57 |
| Moody Insurance Agency | .39 |
| Bake's Place | .20 |
| Grenada Hospital | 261.50 |
| Commercial Cooking and Heating | |
| Miss Lucille Cook | $ 18.22 |
| Grenada Sentinel | 24.08 |
| Cinderella Beauty Shoppe | 32.38 |
| Grenada Clinic | 6.09 |
| Small Power | |
| Spain's Bakery | $ 42.24 |
| Juchheim's Duco & Trim Shop | 108.12 |
| Grenada Sentinel | .66 |
| Grenada Theatre | 15.01 |

While, as stated above, we are for Grenada first, we believe an agreement can be reached with the power company whereby every citizen of Grenada will be benefitted without attempting to force the power company to inaugurate rates in Grenada in line with those of the Mississippi Power Company. If the rates which the mayor and board of aldermen demand are put into effect in Grenada, it will have a material effect upon the rates of the Mississippi Power & Light Company in all towns it serves, with the resultant effect that the financial stability of the company will more than likely be endangered and the investments of its stockholders and bondholders imperiled.

While it is true that the present contract the city has with the Mississippi Power & Light Company is clear as to its intent and purpose, the courts have held that no rates can be set by a municipality which are confiscatory and, should the city attempt to force the power company to adhere to section seven of the contract, it is quite possible that the matter will be carried to the courts and no one can be sure of the outcome.

Under the present contract with the power company the city was granted free street lights for 25 years. Grenada will get free street lights under this clause for 12 more years. After that time our street lights will cost the city around $475.00 monthly, $5,700.00 annually and for 25 years the bill will aggregate $142,500.00. At present we are paying approximately $110.00 per month for lighting our schools and $275.00 per month for current to pump water, or $990.00 annually for school lighting and $3,300.00 annually for current to pump water.

We believe that some arrangement could be made with the power company whereby the city would receive additional free electric service without disturbing clause seven of the contract. If this can be worked out every citizen will be benefitted and none penalized as would be the case should the Mississippi Power Company's rate schedule be adopted here. The same thing now exists in our water department. Water customers are paying for water consumed on rate schedules which enables the city to carry a surplus in this account most every month in the year, if not every month, and money is most frequently diverted from the Water Department Fund for some purpose other than the water department.

We have endeavored to present the electric rate controversy as we see it—without solicitation on the part of anyone—and hope citizens will give thought to the matter before proceeding, for we believe some plan can be worked out whereby the city will gain more than by adopting the rate schedule of the Mississippi Power Company.

LIVESTOCK AUCTION SALES WILL MEAN MUCH TO THIS COMMUNITY

We hope the farmers of this community will take advantage of the opportunity they will be afforded to dispose of their livestock through the medium of the auction sales that are to be held each Thursday afternoon, beginning July 21, at Grenada Fair Grounds. Or, if you are interested in buying cattle, hogs or other livestock at these sales, you will be privileged to do so.

Winona, as well as many other towns, has been having these sales for several months, and they have proven a good source of revenue for the farmers.

The sales here will be sponsored by Messrs. J. B. Keeton, W. A. Martindale, of Elliott, and L. L. Branscombe, of Duck Hill.

NEWSPAPERS ABSOLUTELY FAIR

A favorite pastime with small caliber politicians in Louisiana, during the past ten years, has been to circulate dodgers presenting their ludir and often false arguments, with an explanation (?) they could not get their side of a question printed in "the lying newspapers." The fact that this sort of publicity might possibly deceive a few ignoramouses has been the only excuse for its continuance, for these political master-minds know better and they know that intelligent persons are not fooled by such statements as they make. As a matter of fact, there is no other privately owned and operated business, or utility, in the United States that can always be depended upon to meet its responsibiliy to the public so fairly and impartially.

We have just read with considerable interest a statement signed by F. H. Mueller, of Detroit, and printed in a paper there, saying: "For the past five years I have been a consistent follower of the Public Letter Box forums in not only all the Detroit newspapers, but in those of Cincinnati and Cleveland as well. I have built up a scrapbook library, indexed according to the subject matter, and containing pro and con letters on hundreds of subjects. I feel qualified to testify as to the absolute fairness of all these newspapers in passing on subject matter submitted to them. From my collection I could select samples accusing the papers of being biased from every possible angle, which is the very best sort of proof to the contrary."

This is, we believe, the first time we have heard of a collector of Vox Pop (Public Letter Box) communications, but we have no doubt whatsoever that Mr. Mueller of Detroit has some valuable printed thoughts in his "library." We feel sure, too, the compliment he pays the papers of Detroit, Cincinnati and Cleveland is fully deserved—and that the same words of commendation could truthfully be spoken in regard to the press of every other city in this country. Only the demagogue uses the phrase "lying newspapers."—Shreveport Journal.

WHY NOT A CUP OF TEA

While we don't know, we believe if we had the money to make a trip around the world we would not be in quite as big a hurry as Howard Hughes was on his aeroplane flight. We believe we would take time enough to have a cup of tea with the boys about the globe if nothing else.

NOTES OF SADNESS

Somehow or other there was a note of sadness in the news that Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey Circus—long called "The Greatest Show on Earth," has folded its big "top" and gone to Winter quarters in Florida.

It is especially sad when we think of the thousands of children deprived of a fleeting one-day thrill of watching the fun-making clowns, or the lion tamer or the man on the flying trapeze.

Then there must be a pretty sad outlook for the families of the 1,600 employees, who chose to blindly follow union leaders and put the circus out of business by a strike and thus put themselves out of jobs. The strike was called when the circus proposed a wage cut to avoid closing through bankruptcy. Highly skilled in their work the performers will have little to look forward to but relief, which adds sadness in still another quarter—the taxpayer.

Any way you look at it the Public ultimately foots the bill for strikes which force closing o efnterprises.

BOOSTING PAT

Pat Harrison, Senior Senator from Mississippi, was boosted for a presidential nominee to succeed FDR.

Much attention was paid the action of the Mississippi Democratic Executive Committee by the Press of the South, for it was this committee that launched the boom "Pat for President."

We consider Mr. Harrison's nomination a very remote possibility, but, should he be nominated, his independent stand on New Deal measures would draw to him the support of many luke-warm New Dealers of the North and East which added to the Solid South would make his election a very probable possibility.

Bilbo Agin' Pat

Mr. Bilbo says Governor White and Harrison ignored him when they tried to get audiences with the president and Secretary Ickes, for the purpose of securing federal aid for road building in Mississippi. He said no grants would be made to Mississippi. However, Mr. Bilbo does not burn his political bridges behind him when he crosses the Rubicon. He leaves his trail in good shaep for retreat when he finds it politically expedient.—Picayune (Miss.) Item.

"WITCH-HUNTING" OR ECONOMICS

A joint committee of Congress and of representatives of government administrative departments, equipped with $500,000, is about to set out upon an investigation of American economic system. It is popularly termed "the Monopoly Investigation," but Senator O'Mahoney, who is to be chairman of the inquiry, points out that it has acquired his label for the same reason that headline writers look for short, easily understood words.

In reality, according to the Senator, it is to be a broad investigation into what has been wrong with our economic system and what corrections are necessary to make the system function best for the greatest benefit to all our people.

Such an inquiry, wisely conceived and carried through with the objective of making the private enterprise system work better, can be one of the most constructive moves undertaken by government in years. This means accepting the offered cooperation of business in fact-finding and in the presentation of witnesses. It means accepting that the American system has produced a constantly rising standard of living, but seeking ways to even increase the flow and provide more jobs.

On the other hand, many Washington correspondents have written of the attempts of the young Brain Trust group there to turn the inquiry into a new "witch-hunt" to find evidence for convincing the people that more and better government regimentation of industry, the farmer and labor is the answer to our troubles. If the inquiry is allowed to fall into a new "smear-all" campaign in which the faults of a minority of business are magnified to make it look as though all business is tarred, then the signs of recovery which are again appearing on the horizon might again be driven behind the clouds.

DIED

Rev. E. D. Bradford passed into the great beyond July 2, 1938 in his home on Cherry Street after a long illness.

Rev. Bradford was of the old school of preachers and was honest in his efforts.

He was one of the oldest citizens of this county, spending the greater part of his long and useful life in this community and was widely known.

Rev. Bradford pastored some of the most prominent churches of this county, namely: St. Peters Baptist Church, Jones Chapel and Brushy Fork, adding many members to the cause.

Rev. Bradford married many years ago. He and his wife were blessed with a large family. He was a very active man. Besides preaching he was a brick layer, basket maker and furniture repairer.

We regret the passing of such men, but it is the will of God. They must go when the cause is finished.

He leaves to mourn, his wife Cora, and several children, Robert, Virgil, Frank, Ira and Lucy, of this city and county, Anthem of Leflore county, and Willie Bradford, of Tallahatchie county, and a host of other relatives.

New Books

"Mississippi—A Guide to the Magnolia State", is one of the American Guide series compiled by the Federal Writers' Project of the WPA. This book is not only a travel guide to the state but also has sections devoted to the history, people, resources, and industries. Read about your own town and state.

"Free Land" is a story of pioneer life in Dakota, told by Rose Wilder Lane, who is herself shanty born. The lure of the west and David Beaton's dangerous adventures shared by his young wife, make a very thrilling novel and classic of the American Frontier.

"Blow for a Landing" by Ben Burman, the new Mark Twain, interprets again the romance, the humor, the individuality of the Mississippi. Those who enjoyed his other book "Steamboat Round the Bend" will want to read of Mrs. Penny's struggles to move from shanty life to respectibility and yet overcome her love for the river.

"The White Stag" by Kate Seredy is the Newberry Prize award for Juvenile literature in 1937. This dramatic story of the life of Attila, the Hun is one of the most entertaining legends and the most vividly illustrated.

With The Board Of Supervisors

At the regular July meeting the Board of Supervisors it was ordered that the president of the board and the clerk execute a note in sum of $10,000.00 in favor of Grenada Bank bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum and payable on February 15, 1939 from the general fund. The money to be used to pay obligations of the county payable from the general fund which has no balance.

Board went on record as protesting and objecting to the proposed purchase of Glenwild Plantation by Farm Security Administration for the purpose of converting it into a Negro Colony. Their resolution stated that this land would be removed from the tax rolls in the event it should become the property of FSA and that it would prove detrimental to the best interest of Grenada county otherwise.

The board proceeded to equalize the personal property and real property tax rolls of the county. This work to be completed at least ten days before the regular August meeting at which time notice will be immediately given the public by newspaper publication that the rolls have been equalized and are open for inspection and examination.

Weekly News Letter

(By W. F. Bond)

In some sections there is still lack of information concerning the intention of the Federal and State Government in the joint program of old age assistance.

This is not a pension in that it does not go to all people over sixty-five. In fact, it is a monthly relief check for those needy old people over sixty-five who have no brothers or sisters or sons or daughters able to furnish, either individually or collectively, food, shelter, clothing, and other necessities of life. This aid is intended only for those old people who have nowhere else to look for help.

Federal and State regulations require that only such number be put on the monthly payroll as there are funds sufficient for an amount for each one that will really help.

We wish to repeat that this fund is not a pension bu. goes only to those needy old people who have no first degree relatives able to take care of them.

It's a Fact ...

MISSISSIPPI FARM NEWS

(By F. J. Hurst)

Permanent pastures pay good dividends, Reporting on results obtained on 11 pasture demonstrations, County Agent John R. Williams of Hinds county says Thee Costas, Jackson, grazed 35 cows on 12 acres of demonstration pasture. Grain feed was reduced 60 pounds per day; milk production increased 90 pounds daily; and the demonstration pasture increased the cash return from milk $4.80 a day.

The demonstration pastures were seeded to Bermuda grass, Paspalum, lespedeza, white and hop clovers, and fertilized with 500 pounds of basic slag at time of seeding. Some of the pastures received an application of 100 pounds nitrate of soda and 100 pounds muriate of potash during the spring and early summer.

The auction sale of cattle at the Hinds county livestock show in March was so successful that 38 beef cattle framers of the county promptly came together at the call of County Agent Williams and organized the association on a permanent basis. The cattle show and sale will become an annual affair.

Jefferson county farmers are going to launch a cotton improvement program, County Agent R. M. Coman reports that a group of farmers recently accompanied him on a visit to the Delta and Pine Land Plantation at Scott, Miss., biggest cotton farm in the world, "to study and lay the foundation for adoption of one variety of cotton throughout the county." Soil improvement is coming in for lots of attention at the same time. Coman says 65 farmers are helping him to formulate a soil improvement program for the county and will attend a hearing before the State Conservation Committee on August 11.

Dairymen are becoming interested in pasture improvement, production of feed, and improvement of their herds through the use of better bulls and culling out the poor producing cows, says County Agent Chesley Hines of Harrison county. Membership in the herd improvement association is proving helpful, Hines says, in all of these important items as well as record keeping and other proved practices.

County Agent R. G. Prescott reports that 13 farmers in Rankin county are planing to dig trench silos this summer and will fill them with sorghum silage for winter feeding. Farmers of Rankin have about 60,000 pounds of cured meat in storage in the plant at Brandon. In addition, Prescott says "farmers of the county are storing large quantities of eggs, tomatoes and potatoes, which along with surplus meat, are being marketed to bring producers cash at a time they otherwise could not get it."

County Agent O. B. Elliott, of Walthall says farmers are greatly interested in developing farming systems that will in the long run return the greatest income for the farm. Soil improvement to increase per acre yields and additions of livestock to add new sources of income are two means being utilized.

County Agent John Hennington reports plans under way for a big tri-county livestock show at Magee in October. Business men of the towns are joining with farmers in plans to make the event count for the livestock industry.

Pearl River county is going to improve the quality of its hogs. J. M. Sinclair, county agent, reports that 44 registered Duroc Jersey pigs have been purchased by farmers of the county as the initial step in the program.

Although Franklin county has been one of the leaders in livestock improvement work for the past eight years, County Agent Weeks reports that armers of that county recently purchased 25 registered Hereford cows with 10 bull and 9 heifer calves, besides 8 registered Hereford bulls ready for service. Two of the bulls, he said, were bought cooperatively by farmers who own only three or four cows but who want the service of a good bull.

Madison county farmers have organized a livestock association which is sponsoring a fat cattle show and sale for next spring. County Agent N. S. Estess reports that 30 4-H club boys and six future farmers have purchased select beef calves which will be fed, shown and sold at the sale next year.

County Agent L. C. Strahan of Natchez says crimson clover looks like a good cash crop for some of his farmers. One farmer harvested 350 pounds of clover seed per acre, he said.

County Agent G. L. Hales, of Copiah county reports that the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation purchased 201 carloads of surplus tomatoes for approximately $7,500 that probably would have been lost except for the government sponsored purchase program. Besides, the purchase of these tomatoes brought about a better demand for tomatoes by the commercial trade.

Red Bugs, Or Chiggers, And Their Control

(By Lottie Wood, H. D. Agent)

Chiggers are an extremely annoying and often serious pest of man. While they have not been shown to carry any specific disease, their bites often induce secondary infection resulting in persistent sores or boils. Gross infestations not infrequently cause loss of sleep, systemic disturbances and fever. Chiggers are also important pests of chickens and turkeys, frequently causing the death of chicks or poults.

A chigger is the first, or larval stage, of a large red mite which is entirely harmless when mature. The chiggers hatch soon after warm weather begins, from eggs which are laid in the ground the previous fall. The time of appearance depends, of course, upon the latitude and other conditions. In the extreme south they often begin to cause annoyance about May 1st, while in the more northern sections they seldom appear before the middle of June.

It is a common belief that chiggers actually burrow into the skin, but this is erroneous, as they merely attach to the skin and suck blood. It seems that the chigger, even though of very minute size is capable of injecting a large quantity of poisonous material into its host, and this is responsible for the persistent itching caused by its bite.

Normally, chiggers feed upon small animals, including snakes and lizards and may even attack birds.

It does not seem possible to destroy chiggers in tracts which are heavily covered with woods and undergrowth, but preliminary information obtained by the Bureau of Entomology indicates that they can be held in check about habitations and camps by clearing the underbrush, vines, etc., from such tracts keeping the grass closely cut, and applying flowers of sulphur or very fine dusting sulphur to the vegetation and grounds, preferably with a dust gun. It appears that the use of about 1 pound of sulphur to 1,000 square feet is sufficient. Sometimes one treatment will give a high degree of control, but it is usually best to repeat the application two or three times at intervals of one to two weeks. This is especially necessary when the applications are followed by arin.

To avoid losses among poultry, hatch early. If chickens or turkeys are hatched late they should be kept out of high grass and brush. The use of sulphur in the manner described above will give them some protection, but where the young are brooded by a hen and given free range they will become infested. On chickens the chiggers are inclined to attach in dense masses on portions of the body less covered by down or feathers. A light dusting of the chicks with sulphur will give some relief. However, avoidance of infestation is the most satisfactory practice.

No method which is entirely satisfactory has been found for protecting the person from chiggers. When people are going into places where chiggers abound it is advisable to wear leather leggings or high-top shoes over the trousers. Dusting the body and underwear with flowers of sulphur will give a high degree of protection from attack. A light aplpication of kerosene to the outer clothing is also a good preventive.

Persons exposed to chiggers should bathe as promptly as possible, lathering the body freely coarse rag or brush to dislodge the chiggers as much as possible. The with medicated soap and using a lather may be allowed to dry on the body for 15 minutes before it is removed. When chiggers are known to be on the body a very light application of kerosene a few minutes prior to the bath will kill the chiggers. All clothing should be changed.

No sovereign remedy for the bites is known. Amonia water, strong salt water, soda water, cooling ointments, and many other treatments have their advocates. Scratching should be avoided and mercurochrome or iodine may be applied to infected bites.

Request Forms For Cotton Classing Ready For Growers

Forms and instructions for use in making request for the free cotton-classing service to be supplied this year to organize one-variety and other cotton-improvement groups are now available, says E. H. White, director of the State Extension Service.

These forms and instructions for filing may be obtained from any one of the cotton-classing offices of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The office address is 1111 Fall Building, Memphis, Tenn.

The classing service as it will be inaugurated with the 1938 cotton crop provides free classification of a sample from each bale of improved cotton produced by a member of a qualified improvement group. Notification of the grade and staple length, according to the U. S. Cotton Standards, will be returned to the grower from whose bale the sample is drawn. The service is not available to individual cotton growers, only to organized improvement groups.

Director White recommends that one-variety and other improvement groups that desire the free classing service this year apply as promptly as possible, so that the Bureau of Agricultural Economics may arrange all details for handling and shipping the samples to be classed.

375,000 Forest Trees Set Out In 2 Years

By adapting species to soil type, the growing of forest trees on prairie soils in Mississippi may produce a valuable crop for farm use, according to foresters of the Mississippi Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service.

This is indicated, they say, by observations of plantings made on farms of cooperators in the Soil Conservation Service demonstration area near West Point, where a total of 375,000 forest trees have been set out during the past two years.

When the project was established, technicians of the Soil Conservation Service found the general belief among farmers that forest trees would not grow successfully on prairie soils. No commercial forests were found. The principal species on scattered areas for farm use were cedar and such hardwoods as hackberry, post oak, hickory, and bois d'arc.

The objectives of the Servicee in the woodland phase of its program were to improve existing farm woods by demonstrations of thinning, pruning, and proper care, and the planting of desirable species to control erosion, make use of idle and eroded land not suited to other crops, and provide the necessary fuel, posts, and lumber for farm use.

Forests have been planted or improved on 46 farms in the project area. The 375,000 trees planted, include 65,000 pine, 50,000 hickory, 29,000 red oak, 6,500 white oak, 143,000 black locust, 9,500 catalpa, 28,000 bois d'arc, 25,500 white ash, and 16,500 hackberry.

All sepcies have made satisfactory growth with the exception that pine planting were not successful on Houston clay soil. In controlling erosion, black locust and pine gives coverage in 2 to 4 years and other species in 4 to 6 years.

Steamship Trip To Alaska The Climax To 14th 'KMB' Tour

State's Exhibit to Be Displayed in Twenty-Seven Cities of Two Countries By Good Will Emissaries.

Climaxed by a boat trip to Alaska, eleven States and four Canadian Provinces will be traversed by some 200 Mississippians aboard the fourteenth annual good will tour of the "Know Mississippi Better" Train which leaves Jackson July 16.

Preceding tours of the most famous train in the world including every state in the Union with a single exception, and considerable portions of Mexico and Canada. The 1938 schedule is the most ambitious of all, for besides the Canadian Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, and British Columbia, it includes a four-day boat trip to Hyder, Alaska. The boat will leave Prince Rupert, British Columbia, sail northward to Hyder, thence southward to Vancouver, and in so doing will traverse almost the entirety of the Canadian Pacific coast line.

A feature of the train this year as in the past will be the solid car display of Mississippi products and resources. Cooperating are the State Department of Agriculture, Fish and Game Commission; State Forestry Commission; Masonite Corporation; Mississippi Division, Cottonseed Products Association; Cooperative Cotton Association; Extension Division of Mississippi State College; and State Board of Health.

Thousands of people in more than 400 cities of the three countries on the North American continent have viewed the exhibit during previous tours. This year an even larger than ordinary attendance is anticipated, for the exhibit is most comprehensive and will be displayed in 27 cities of the United States and Canada.

That more than casual interest is thus aroused in Mississippi opportunities is the opinion of J. C. Holton, commissioner of agriculture. During the past five years, he stated, "in answer to letter requests, we have mailed 32,769 pieces of literature to all portions of the country, and much of this followed the tours of the 'Know Mississippi Better' Train."

Originated at a mass meeting of citizens called by Governor Whitfield 13 years ago, the "Know Mississippi Better" Train has traveled nearly 100,000 miles. It is under the management of former Governor Dennis Murphree, general chairman; Dr. F. J. Underwood, state health officer; W. F. Bond state director of public welfare; and J. C. Holton, commissioner of agriculture.

Riverdale H. D. Club Met July 7th

The Riverdale Home Demonstration Club met July 7 at the home of Mrs. H. D. Lane, with Mrs. Talbert as co-hostess. There were eight members and two visitors present.

Mrs. Boteler, the president, gave a report of the last County Council meeting. Miss Wood, the Home Demonstration Agent, told about various injurious insects and displayed specimens of each. She also gave a recipe for making homemade floor wax and distributed instructions for refinishing furniture.

A contest was enjoyed and Mrs. Barclay Coats received the prize.

The hostesses served delicious sandwiches, cakes, and erange punch.

There will not be an August meeting of the club.

Pet Seal Hitch-Hikes On Naval Vessel

Oscar, the pet seal adopted by the crew of the aircraft carrier Lexington several years ago, recently rode the ninety miles between San Diego and Long Beach, California, perched upon the armor belt of the giant vessel. Oscar was apparently at his ease the entire trip but several members of the crew breathed a sigh of relief when the ship anchored and Oscar slipped unconcernedly into the water.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. ALICE LAMON

In our little village cemetery,
There we see a flowered mound
Where Mrs. Lamon lies asleeping
In the cold silent ground.

She was a darling old lady
And her sweet voice we loved to hear,
She was always full of joy and kindness
And we thought her very dear.

Yes, we will miss her
As the days go passing by;
But we will meet her again,
For we all have to die.

When we reach our home in heaven,
In that city bright and fair,
Do you think she will remember?
Yes, she will know us there.

Dearest one. She has left us,
And the loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God that has bereft us,
He will all our sorrow heal.

By Frances Norwood.

To Work Out Plan For Forums in State

(By J. S. Vandiver)

At the suggestion of the United States Commissioner of Education, Dr. John W. Studebaker, my office has recently, in cooperation with Mr. R. L. Anderson, State Director Education Division, WPA, sponsored the organization of a committee whose purpose it is to work out a plan for forums in the state.

This movement has resulted from interest developed in forums throughout the state, and is in line with the action of other states throughout the Union. Interest in forums has been stimulated by the recent forum demonstration on the Gulf Coast known as the Federal Forum Project for Mississippi, as well as by community forums held in a number of communities thruout the state.

At a meeting held in my office last week, Superintendent B. Frank Brown, of Gulfport, who was the chairman of the committee sponsoring the Gulf Coast Forums, was elected chairman of the state committee and Dr. Martha C. Enochs, of Jackson, was elected Secretary.

Other members of the committee are: President, C. J. Darby, Perkinston; President G. D. Humphreys, State College; Mrs. Lawrence Lowrey, Blue Mountain; Dr. I. F. Simmons, Jackson; R. E. Steen; Dr. Felix J. Underwood; R. L. Anderson; and J. S. Vandiver.

The committee agreed to ask for four forums of the experimental type, one to be at Gulfport, one at Jackson, one in the Delta, and one somewhere in northeast Mississippi. While the Commissioner has given no assurance that experimental forums will be available in Mississippi during the coming year, the committee felt that if it were possible to obtain this many experimental forums for the state this would stimulate greatly the interest of our people in the discussion of public questions of a vital nature.

The committee also proposed to encourage the extension of community supported forums throughout the state. These forums will make use of home talent speakers in the discussion of local and national questions.

Employing Farmers On WPA Program

Ackerman, Miss., July 8—In regard to the matter of employing farmers on the WPA program Congressman A. L. Ford today sent the following self-explanatory letter to WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins:

"You are no doubt familiar with the fact that at the past session of Congress it was provided that farmers who needed it should be just as eligible for WPA employment as anyone else. I supported this provision, for I knew that farmers in Mississippi during the period between 'laying-by time' and the gathering of the crop, the months of July and August, would be very much in need of supplemental income. The great spending program of the WPA should afford this opportunity.

"Upon my return home I have talked with many farmers, and I find that they are being refused certification for WPA work, because the Mississippi Quota of WPA workers as presently set, is filled and overflowing. The only way to cure this situation and to give these farmers the work, and to comply with the clear intent of Congress, is to raise the Mississippi quota of WPA workers, thereby enabling the State and Local WPA agencies to submit and certify WPA applications.

"This situation is serious. It warrants speedy favorable action. I hope that you will investigate and take action designed to give our farmers a chance.

Sincerely yours,
A. L. FORD."

Mr. Ford states that if the National Administrator will agree to this request and to give more farmers jobs on the WPA he will advise every newspaper in his District, in order that the farmers may be speedily informed of it.

"Natural Combinations"

It is natural for us to associate certain articles together. For example, comb and brush - gas and oil - cake and ice cream - powder and puff - cream and sugar - and countless others. It is because such things naturally fit together and because we think of one when we think of the other. It's true about this store, too. When folks think of good things to eat they naturally think of Jitney-Jungle as the best place to get them. It's a "natural combination".
